Mr. Pitts then reviewed a list of discussion topics provided in advance by Council, covering topics such as:

Concerns were raised regarding the impact on rural and coastal property owners in the County, particularly seasonal residents, those who are holding vacant property to develop in the future, and those who are inheriting property. There is also a concern with taxes traditionally collected for municipalities now being levied by the Province. Mr. Horne also noted that the Province is also looking to renegotiate the Service Exchange with municipalities. Discussion followed.

COADY INSTITUTE

The connection between St. Francis Xavier University, Coady Institute, and the Municipality of the County of Antigonish is long and rich. Rising to meet the moment almost a century ago the University created the Extension Department in an effort to help reshape the economic backbone of our region through a cooperative movement that became known as the Antigonish Movement.

In 1959, in response to people from all over the world arriving in Antigonish to learn how to replicate an Antigonish Movement-like experience in their countries and communities, StFX established Coady International Institute. For the next few decades, Extension (locally) and Coady (internationally) worked to help people help themselves, first through cooperatives and credit unions and more recently through a variety of other community-driven, asset-based and citizen-led models of development.

Over the years, Coady Institute has brought 7,000+ community development practitioners from 130 countries to Antigonish. Many local families have a story or two about a Coady participant that they know, whether through inviting them to share a meal at home, assisting as a conversation partner, in church, or through one of the many course-based field trips. These opportunities allow Coady participants to learn from local experiences with community development. In recent years, participants have engaged with officials from the County of Antigonish during various courses.

The County and Coady have functioned in a synergetic way for 60+ years. This relationship was evident during the Institute's 50th anniversary year when, through the generosity of the local community and many others, Coady moved to the centre of the StFX campus further strengthening the Institute's relationship with the community. The effort led to Coady honouring local residents with the creation of the Antigonish Community Foyer.

Steve Smith
Coady's Campaign
for the Future (2006)
Co-chair

The Antigonish Community Foyer is named after the people of this community who gave so generously of their money over the years, of their time and their volunteering to help make this organization what it means in the world. It is a significant organization with a significant world meaning, and today, I'm thrilled that it's here and we have the opportunity to support it and we have the opportunity to help develop, deliver programs that help so many people.

Coady Institute has brought global attention to Antigonish. No other community in Canada has such a unique institute that combines education programs, community engagement, and partner capacity building internationally and locally. Coady continues to provide programs that promote education, innovation, group action, and sustainable economic activities increasing the cooperation and networking of community-based organizations and educational institutions around the world and in our own Antigonish community. We know that focusing on gender equality, women's leadership, and initiatives with Indigenous women leaders and African Nova Scotians creates healthy communities.

I think we have a powerful but gentle message right here in our own backyard and it is really something that we have to open our eyes to and appreciate. {We need} to connect with Coady and keep it growing because what it's done internationally...I'm so grateful that, as an Antigonisher, as somebody from the county, not only could I leverage StFX but most importantly, I could leverage the Coady for my particular career path. I'm forever in debt to them for that.

Maggie MacDonnell
former Coady Institute Intern, Coady Graduate, and 2017 winner of the Global Teacher Prize

As of mid-June this year Coady and Extension have been combined into one unit within the University. Our Centre for Employment Innovation, also a part of Coady, is working closely with the Province of Nova Scotia and Nova Scotia Works Centres to improve the success rate for under-represented populations to find work. Our Innovation and Enterprise Centre runs many programs to help those in our community wanting to start their own businesses. Coady courses such as Future of Work and Workers, Social Enterprise, and Livelihoods and Markets are drawing increasing numbers of participants from our community and Province. This international and local focus is one reason Shannon Stephenson, local lawyer and businessperson, is chairing the current Coady Change Leaders campaign.

Shannon Stephenson,
Coady Change Leader
Campaign Chair

I really believe passionately in the Coady Institute and what it does on the international stage, what it does on the Canadian stage, and what it does locally. I believe it's done so much for so many people. It's just an amazing organization and we're just so fortunate to have such an organization in such a small community. It makes us a bigger, more diverse, and more interesting place.

During the last year, Coady has had to reimagine, redesign, and rearrange our courses and ability to reach people. Rather than fail in these uncertain times, our online programs have thrived. The participation of so many Canadians (especially Nova Scotians) in Coady online programs has been a wonderful surprise. Our online participant numbers have doubled, as the accessibility has allowed us to reach more. However, the heart of the Institute, one that we share with Antigonish each year, is to have participants attend Coady programs in person, experience life in our town, study local businesses, talk with local entrepreneurs and business people, and share together best practices, innovations, and friendships. In 2022, we will look forward to welcoming our Coady participants 'home'.

The Coady Change Leader Campaign will provide scholarships for people, both locally and globally, to attend Coady leadership education programs. We ask the Municipality of the County of Antigonish to join the local business and medical communities and a network of supportive individuals in contribution to our local scholarship campaign.

The purpose of the campaign is to make it possible for leaders from all over the world (and right here in our own backyard) to come together to learn and share about the latest innovations in community development and leadership. We are asking the Municipality of the County of Antigonish to consider making a $5,000/year commitment for the 5-year campaign period.

Antigonish is a special place with a huge sense of community. It's not just about community here but about community beyond our own county and our province. It's community all across the world. When you think about how we live today, we are all global citizens. When things get better in the rest of the world, they get better for us as well. It's all about being global citizens and making the globe better for everybody.

Councilor Harris McNamara

Dear Harris:

The Havre Boucher & Area CDRA serving District 9 is seeking your assistance to address the failure of a critical piece of our community center equipment. As you know during Covid our facility was closed to community activity and we scaled back or shut down equipment to mitigate our costs. We are now gradually reopening, and our weekly Dart Club League was the first to reengage in indoor community activity during the Province's Stage 5. This is the first center generated revenue in a year and a half.

Temperatures have dipped to the point where heat is required. The heating system, consisting of 2 main heat pumps units, was restarted. However, we received complaints that the building wasn't warm enough. Upon inspection we discovered one of the heat pumps had shut down and the second unit does not have the capacity to make up for the lost BTU's. Our service provider tested and inspected the system today and advised the unit had failed, it is not repairable and would need to be replaced. The unit is original equipment and has been in service for 16 years. The twin unit failed previously in a similar manner and had to be replaced. If we wish to continue to reopen, we need to replace this unit before the weather gets colder.

We were closed all of our fiscal year 2020-21 because of Covid restrictions and lost the revenue generated from activities based out of the center. We were fortunate to have received the operating grant from the County to help cover operating costs. We have been closed half of the current fiscal year including the summer period, which provides the greatest opportunity for revenue generation. We anticipate a deficit of $10,000 for the current year on regular operations. In addition to this deficit we are projecting an expense of $10,000 to repair our retaining wall. It had been planned to delay this until 2022-23 but significant movement this past winter and recommendations of an engineer and an architect are to address the repair now or risk undermining the main wall.

We are seeking your financial support of $6,500 to replace one heat pump unit. This request is supported by an estimate from our service provider.

Sincerely,

Hughie O'Neill, Treasurer

Antigonish NS

Dear Harris:

As a follow up to my letter of November 3, 2021, I thought I would provide you with additional information that highlights the impact that Covid had on our operations in support of our request.

The Covid restrictions required us to close our community center. Obviously, this had a huge social impact in our community because we could not gather as we normally did. Additionally, it had a huge impact on our revenues because while the center drives our social activities it also drives our revenues.

We were unable to rent the center for weddings, anniversaries and gatherings, we lost the weekly revenue of darts and sewing, our weekly card plays were suspended, our monthly ceilidhs were cancelled, our fitness center was shut down, pickleball stopped, our bar was closed and we were just about to start another Chase The Ace fund raiser as covid shuts downs began.

Given we operate close to break even in a normal year you can appreciate that, with the disappearance of revenue, our operations are gravely challenged. We did undertake cost saving measures with utilities and staffing but you still have insurance and heat and phone and other service-related costs to cover.

However, even as we start to reopen, we are not out of the woods. We expect revenue generating activities will not have the same participation rate as pre-covid and not all activities will be able to start right away. Chase The Ace will not be successful in the current climate and it will take a while before it will be determined if it is worthwhile. We hope to see card plays restart in the new year but our monthly ceilidhs will not resume, if they do, until whatever the new wave number is over. We will not have gym drop-ins or birthday party and anniversary party rentals. What ever function we conduct it will not generate the same profit as in the past.

The financial strains of the past year and a half and the uneasiness of the next year that we have identified herein is intended to reinforce our request for support to resolve our heating system issue.

Sincerely,

Hughie O'Neill, Treasurer
